Drag and drop the correct box that fits in the following statement.

The point is creating content that is [user friendly] ✓ for affiliate ads. Taking offers for advertising with a [special relationship] ✓ with ad owners leads to more revenue and success as an affiliate.

You can also narrow down [themes and the content] ✓ of sites. Revenue tends to decrease when the access rate from [advertisements] ✓ is too high.

[advertiser friendly] types of products handled
[normal relationship]

Your answer is correct.

Here are some of the texts in the 2019 edition.

Generally speaking, these onsite advertising techniques have the following advantages.

1. It's easy to make money.
2. You don't have to spend a lot of money to get started.
3. You can easily start in your free time.
4. You can make money from home.
5. You can make money on the side.

However, if you look at operators who have been successful in generating high revenues from onsite advertising, they are doing the opposite of these benefits.

This means the following.

1. They look closely at the competition and users to create detailed content.
2. They are willing to invest in other companies and in purchasing products and peripherals to be advertised.
3. They spend a lot of time researching and creating content.
4. They don't rely on the internet and don't neglect to do their research through fieldwork.
5. They are devoted to it as their most important work.

It is true that this advertising method is easy to do, but if you want to achieve results, it is a prerequisite for success that you take it seriously as a job, just like any other business. This kind of effort will take an enormous amount of time at first, but as you find your own profitable methods, you will become more efficient with familiarity and ingenuity.

Only a few of the people who make money from these websites make money from advertising alone, but they also consult, sell reports, and write books and content. Consider making a total profit.
